SENATE IN S-4 INQUIRY CLASH
 Fails to Come to Vote on House Resolution
 Issue Develops as to Who Shall Investigate
 Proposal Goes Back to Place on Calendar

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (P)—After clashing intermittently for more than four hours today as to whether a Presidential commission or Congress shall investigate the S-4 disaster, the Senate adjourned without a vote on the House resolution, which automatically went back to the calendar.
 Senator Swanson of Virginia, ranking Democrat on the Naval Committee, demanded a vote, but Chairman Hale of that committee objected on the ground that the Senate should wait until the investigation of the S-4 disaster is completed.
 "I will not be trifled with this way," he declared. "I got out of a sick bed to come here and I will take unanimous consent to get this resolution up again out of its regular order."

LATITUDE IN SENTENCING ADVOCATED
 Mrs. Willebrandt Indorses Bill Increasing Maximum Penalties for Bootlegging
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (P)—Legislation to strengthen the power of courts in sentencing bootleggers and rum-runners was urged today before a House Judiciary subcommittee by Assistant Attorney-General Mabel Walker Willebrandt.
 Mrs. Willebrandt indorses a bill by Representative Stalker of New York, which would strengthen the Volstead Act by providing a fine up to $10,000 or imprisonment up to five years, or both, for illegal manufacture, sale or transportation of liquor. The Volstead act imposes a maximum fine of $10,000 or imprisonment up to five years, or both, for these offenses, she said.
 "The hands of the courts are tied at present when a large liquor offender is arraigned," she declared. "This maximum fine and imprisonment enable the judges to impose sentences commensurate with the offense and with his direct or indirect bootlegging."

Kentucky Senate Beckons Smith
 FRANKFORT (Ky.) Jan. 20. (P)—The Kentucky Senate today adopted a resolution inviting Gov. Smith of New York to address the Senate. The Senate's action came shortly after the House had voted down a joint resolution previously adopted by the Senate to invite Secretary Hoover to address the Legislature.
 Representative Macfarland, Democrat of Kentucky, led the fight against the Hoover invitation, asserting that it would be "undignified" for the Senate to receive a Republican propagandist, and quoted newspaper reports saying Hoover has announced he will not accept such invitations.
 Both houses of the Legislature have large Democratic majorities.

Mussels Freed From Quarantine
 SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20. (P)—Dr. Walter H. Dickie, director of public health, today lifted the quarantine in effect since July 1927, on mussels on the Coronado beach, Monterey, California Point, San Mateo county, Sierra Point at West Berkeley, and Winterset and Marine Island, Contra Costa districts. The ban, however, still is in force in any other section where mussels are found.
 The quarantine was declared by the health department last summer when twenty-eight cases of mussels poisoning, six of which proved fatal, developed after mussels had been gathered along the coast had been eaten.
 The witness admitted that the positions of the recovered bodies were antagonistic to testimony given yesterday by Dr. George B. Magrath, local medical examiner, that the men died of slow drowning, but said that water, which could not be admitted without respiratory action, was found in the plural cavities.
 "I can imagine a condition," the witness said, "in which men in a semiconscious condition from breathing noxious gas might arrange themselves in a more or less comfortable position and still be able to carry on respiratory movements sufficient to take water on the lungs and produce the picture found on the S-4."

Alaskan Backs Asylum Plans
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (P)—Delegate Suberland of Alaska today before a House Judiciary Committee, introduced a bill which would transfer all criminally insane persons from Alaska to the St. Elizabeth's Hospital here.
 The bill, which was introduced by Representative Johnson, Republican, of Washington, is intended to relieve the Coast States of the care of the Alaskan criminal insane. During the hearings it was pointed out that the Alaskan cases have badly crowded institutions on the Coast.
Rebels Killed in Mexico Raid
 MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20. (P)—Dispatches from Mazatlan, State of Sinaloa, today said several rebels were slain when they attempted to stop a passenger train on the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico. The train was southbound and today said the rebels made their attempt near a tunnel.
 Several rebels were captured by Federal forces when they tried to burn a bridge near the tunnel.

CITRUS SELLING GROUP FORMED
 Sacramento Meeting Ends in Its Organization
 Clearinghouse Idea Will be Used in Project
 Better Marketing Expected to be Attained

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20. (P)—The California Citrus Fruit Association formally was launched here today with the signing of articles of incorporation, approval of by-laws and the outlining of plans for organizing the State Citrus Fruit Association.
 This action initiates what leaders of the perishable fruit industry in the State believe to be the beginning of a "tremendous and far-reaching organization for the better distribution of the products of California agriculture."
 The new organization resembles the California Vineyardists' Association, being a trade or service body which, as outlined in its articles of incorporation, is a clearinghouse division to which shipper are affiliated as agents of the growers.
REASON FOR GROUP
 Organizers say formation of the association followed repeated requests from growers of tree fruits in the northern counties for a clearinghouse to co-operate in a movement to liquidate the surplus of fruit and to prevent such disasters in the future and for saving officers and men after the war.
 The growers at today's meeting around which the membership of the new association was organized, comprised a committee of representative fruit growers from Placer county and members of the board of directors and advisers of the California Vineyardists' Association from northern counties.
PLANS WORKED OUT
 Plans for an immediate membership campaign were made and Donald Conn, managing director of the California Vineyardists' Association, was appointed director of the campaign.
 Grower membership will carry no crop obligations and shippers operating in the clearinghouse will remain "competitive for the growers" crop, which individual members are privileged to sell through the clearinghouse with profitable distribution.
 The association will be operated by a board of directors to be chosen each year by the advisers of the six territorial districts. Advisers will be elected at annual meetings of the growers.

ENTHUSIASM IN GREETING TO HERRICK
 American Ambassador to France Gets Tumultuous Welcome at Havre
 PARIS, Jan. 20. (P)—Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, returning to his post after a long sick leave in the United States, was received here today with a conquering hero's welcome by the town of Havre.
 He was met at the pier by Prefect Lalmand and other officials in behalf of the French government, while military bands played the "Marseillaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner." The star spangled banner was played in the port joined in shrieking their welcome.
 The Ambassador was received officially at the City Hall, Sheldon Whitehouse, who had been acting as chargé d'affaires in Havre, received the Ambassador. The arrival at Havre only for a brief moment of the presence of others, and that his benediction certainly was not to be interpreted as approval of his movement. The article concludes with the statement that the Pope never took official notice of the Malines conversations, which "occurred between private individuals without a mandate of any sort."

Gene Anderson Out of Prison
 SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20. (Exclusive)—Gene Anderson, sentenced to San Quentin prison from Los Angeles in 1926 on two counts of passing checks with insufficient funds, walked out of the prison today after serving fifteen months on a minimum allotment of one year. He came out with the express purpose to avoid everything in the future which might mean a return to Marin county's "big gray home on the shore."
 Her hands shook as she signed papers in the office of State Prison warden, but she regained composure almost immediately thereafter. As she stepped to a telephone to verify the hour of an engagement, she remarked that it was the first time in fifteen months she had used a phone.

CRYING BABY HALTS ROBBERY
 Bandits and Citizens Fight Gun Battle as Child Awakens Father
 MODESTO, Jan. 20. (P)—The cry of a baby resulted in a spectacular gun fight with bandits at 2:15 a.m. at Montpelier, with the bandits routed and one evidently wounded seriously.
 Paul Yancy, one of the promoters of the A. J. Yancy General Store at Montpelier, got out of bed to get milk for the baby and noticed a light in the store across the street.
 Warren L. Trumbley, a neighboring blacksmith, was notified. Armed with a shotgun and a large-caliber rifle, the two crept to the front of the store and when two robbers emerged, opened fire. The fire was returned but neither Yancy nor Trumbley was injured. The robbers escaped in a light-colored pickup and bullets but a bullet-riddled bag belonging to one of them was found later.
 Four sacks of property were carried away.

BRITISH CHURCH STRIFE FLARES
 Revised Prayer Book Issued in Religious Battle
 Catholic Question Expected to Cause Trouble
 Debated Volume Again Will Go to Vote in House

LONDON, Jan. 20. (P)—Another move in the religious strife featuring the life of England at present was made today with publication of the newly revised prayer book of the Church of England, which will be submitted to the church assembly on February 6.
 It ratified by the church assembly, the book again will go to the House of Commons, where on December 15, after one of the most dramatic debates in modern times, Parliament rejected the version on which the church authorities had labored twenty years.
NEW FUEL FOR FLAMES
 Coming closely on the heels of publication of the Malines conversations, which sought church unity, and the Pope's "encyclinal" stating definitely a return to Rome is essential for the church, the revised prayer book of the House of Commons is expected to add fuel to the flame of religious controversy.
 This controversy has its genesis in charges by one section of the Church of England that the revised prayer book is a movement in the direction of Roman Catholicism and practices.
 Certain changes have been made in the newly revised version of the prayer book with reference to forms of worship which came under criticism, but it is understood that these are considered minor and ineffective ones by the extreme Protestant Anglicans. A renewed fight on the revision consequently is expected both by the church assembly and in Parliament.
 It is probable that the new measure will reach the House of Commons early in May.

PRAYERS FOR KING
 Among the chief alterations is the decision of the bishops to order obligatory daily prayers for the King. The obligation of the clergy for the monarch have been increased as an indirect slight to the monarch as head of the church. In the revised form, it is provided that the prayer for the King shall be offered every morning and evening throughout the year.
 Another change on a matter which is regarded in church circles as vital, that concerning the doctrine of transubstantiation, is made in the insertion of a "Black Letter Rubric" dealing with the question of kneeling before the host.
 "No adoration is intended or ought to be done either unto the sacrament of the body or wine thereof received, or unto any corporal presence of Christ's natural flesh and blood," this rubric says.
POTS REAFFIRM STAND AGAINST FUSION
 ROME, Jan. 20. (P)—Reaffirmation that any attempt at resumption of the "Malines conversations" looking toward a union of the Christian churches, or any similar effort, will be undertaken without the Pope's approval, was reiterated today by the Vatican organ's restatement of the principles contained in the recent Papal Encyclical in reply to the brochure by Lord Halifax, chief Anglican participant in the Malines conversations with the late Cardinal Mercier, in which Lord Halifax declared that the Pope's personal benediction bestowed on him at an audience also covered his "lifelong work for reunion."
 Observers say that the Pontiff at the time of the audience saw Lord Halifax only for a brief moment of the presence of others, and that his benediction certainly was not to be interpreted as approval of his movement. The article concludes with the statement that the Pope never took official notice of the Malines conversations, which "occurred between private individuals without a mandate of any sort."

Iowa Democrats Indorse No One
 DES MOINES (Iowa) Jan. 20. (P)—Without indorsing any Presidential candidate, a two-day series of conferences by Iowa Democrats, closed here today.
 A second attempt to approve E. T. Meredith, Des Moines publisher, as Iowa's favorite son was dropped today at his request and the conference adopted a policy of allowing the precinct, county and district subdivisions to determine the Presidential choice of Iowa Democrats.
 Meredith announced he is not a candidate.

 "We slipped away to be married because we knew his family wouldn't like the idea," Mrs. Craig explained.

Chinese Flyer Reaches Coast
 SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20. (Exclusive)—An ambitious young aviator who hopes to do for China what Lindbergh did for America arrived today in the Bay District full of ideas and enthusiasm. He is Ma Tien Lai Huang, 32 years of age, alumnus of Chinese, American and British universities, constructor of airports in China, soldier, writer and pilot. His ambition is to fly across the Pacific. He landed at the Oakland airport in his monoplane, the Spirit of Canton, with which he has just completed a good-will flight across the United States.
 "I believe that the Pacific Ocean can be spanned by an airplane," declared Ma Tien. "Before Lindbergh conquered the Atlantic that feat seemed just as hard. I now am having a tri-motor Fokker plane built in this country while I am recruiting help in China and I expect to be able to hop off in June."

AIR ROUTE WILL SHRINK ONE DAY
 Line from Coast to Coast to be Lighted
 Planes to Fly Two Nights Instead of One Change Will be Made Within Few Months
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (P)—With a few months the government plans to save one business day over the transcontinental air mail route.
 W. F. McCracken, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, explained the program today in announcing that F. C. Hingsburg, chief of airways, has been sent out on an inspection of the western end of the transcontinental route, preparatory to organizing the campaign for complete lighting of the route from New York to San Francisco.
 At present the air mail must be routed out of New York in the morning, with the result that the planes fly all day, through that night, and then through most of the succeeding day.
 With the lighting completed, the machines will leave the terminals at night, continue through the night and complete their trip on the dawn of the second day. The result of this will be to get most of the flying done at night and enable the saving of a full business day.
 Hingsburg plans to get all of the lighting installed by June 30, next. There will be 247 rotating electric beacons, 460 gas beacons, and 112 lighted intermediate fields along the route.
 Supplementing the lighting there will be weather observers stationed every sixty miles relaying weather reports and predictions by radio.

REFUGE SOUGHT FOR WILD LIFE
 Representative Welch Asks $1,000,000 Fund
 California Game Declared to be Thinning Out
 Two or More Sites Later May be Included in Plan
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (Exclusive)—A bill providing for the establishment of a migratory bird and game refuge in California, at a site to be selected by the Department of Agriculture, was introduced in Congress today by Representative Welch of San Francisco, at the request of the Associated Sportsmen's Clubs of California. The bill carries authorization for the annual sum of $1,000,000. Sportsmen of California are alarmed Welch said, over threatened loss of the annual sum of migratory birds from Alaska as a reclamation project and commercial development of the natural refuge along the coast.
 The bill provides that the site would serve "as a refuge and breeding place for migratory birds and other wild animals, and for the conservation of wild flowers and aquatic plants and to such an extent as the Secretary of Commerce may prescribe as a refuge and breeding place for fish and other aquatic animals."
 The necessary dikes, spillways, dams and other improvements would be constructed under the direction of the Secretary of Agriculture.
 The land for the project would be acquired "by purchase, gift or lease" with the approval of the California Legislature.
 Representative Welch indicated that the bill may be amended later to provide for two or more refuges in the northwestern and one in the southern part of the State.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20. (AP)—The prospects that Dr. Otto Pelzer, famous German runner, would be permitted to engage in three races in the United States this winter, and possibly meet the American ace, Lloyd Dismu, appeared remote tonight after two of the six members of the foreign relations committee of the Amateur Athletic Union put themselves on record as opposed to sanctioning any appearances by the Teuton star.

Although German authorities had withdrawn their previous objections to Pelzer's engaging in competition here, it appeared likely the A.A.U. would take the position that the Olympic year was not the proper time to stimulate special activity by visiting athletes. Furthermore, it is the desire of authorities to avoid the possibility, especially this year, of any repetition of unpleasant experiences accompanying the appearances of such stars as Charley Rod and Paavo Nurmi in recent seasons.

Final decision is not expected for several days but it will take approving votes by all four remaining members of the foreign

TEAM HANDICAPPED

Stanford has been in much the same position as California, in a basketball way, both teams being handicapped by the presence of several players on the gridiron when they were badly needed on the court. RABBIT PUNCHES

THE case with which Mack House defeated Joe Woods at Pasadena the other night only goes to show the caliber of George Phoebe Godfrey. In battering Woods all over the ring House looked like a champion, but Neil Clisby was just that much better when he kayaked House at the opening of Morris Cohen's new arena last summer, and Clisby in turn succumbed before the heavy rannouncing of Godfrey's fists.

Of course, Woods was outweighed by House sixteen pounds, but if you're going to fight heavyweights you have to take 'em as they come, and Clisby even at slightly over 190 pounds was outweighed about twenty-five pounds by Godfrey. For a big man Godfrey is very fast, and he is a much harder hitter than a lot of people suspect. The best test of his ability is going to come when he meets Paulino Uzcudun here February 28. High basketball team practically clinched the City League basketball title for the fourth straight year yesterday by trimming Lincoln, 31-24.

Capt. Glenn Sultenfuss easily established himself as the leading scorer in the league when he dropped 16 points through the hoop. The Football combination worked to perfection against the basketballers after Coach Van Pelt's quintet had gotten off to an 8-10-5 lead in the first quarter. The Footballers came back in the second period, however, to score 9 digits, while the superior guarding of George Bluebell and Ted Lemche held the Lincoln five scoreless.

Bobbie Forbes also played a good game for the winners and was second high-point scorer with 7 points. The Hollywood lightweights took a pasting from the Lincoln babes, when the latter went on a rampage in the fourth quarter to score 14 points, which gave them a 26-10-4 victory.

Graham electrified the Poly and Franklin rooting sections alike, with his accurate basket shooting. He rang up 19 points for the Mechanic five during his time on the floor. OUT JEFFERSONS

An overconfident L. A. High basketball team came from behind in the last five minutes of play yesterday afternoon, scoring a total of twelve points, to give themselves a 28-24 victory over the rejuvenated Jeffersons.

The hectic struggle took place on the Democrats' court. It became evident early in the game that the Blue and White squad had badly underestimated the opposition. The score stood 15-7, favoring Jefferson, at the half.

The third period came the awakening as Capt. Jimmie Kelly and Walt Milford, Roman standbys, got the range of the loops and proceeded to increase the Pioneers' total by nine digits, making the score 21-16 with the Democrats still leading.

With a chance to win in the last quarter, the whole L. A. team rose to the occasion to pull together its defense and with Fred McMahon, fighting forward, in the lead, overtook the Green and Gold's lead with a clever display of his own offensive power and finally emerged on the long end of the score.

Coach Dave Ridenbort's 130-pound team captured the preliminary contest by an 18-10-16 score. Herb Nelson, L. A. forward, was high point man with eight digits. Nelson tied the dispute in the closing minutes of play when he sank the winning basket. The line-ups:

High basketball team practically clinched the City League basketball title for the fourth straight year yesterday by trimming Lincoln, 31-24.

Capt. Glenn Sultenfuss easily established himself as the leading scorer in the league when he dropped 16 points through the hoop. The Football combination worked to perfection against the basketballers after Coach Van Pelt's quintet had gotten off to an 8-10-5 lead in the first quarter. The Footballers came back in the second period, however, to score 9 digits, while the superior guarding of George Bluebell and Ted Lemche held the Lincoln five scoreless.

Bobbie Forbes also played a good game for the winners and was second high-point scorer with 7 points. The Hollywood lightweights took a pasting from the Lincoln babes, when the latter went on a rampage in the fourth quarter to score 14 points, which gave them a 26-10-4 victory.

ROMANTIC MYSTERY DEEPENS

Relatives Puzzled Over
Lucy Banning Ross's New
Japanese Husband

Identity of Setsuo Ota, Japanese, who two days ago became the fourth husband of Mrs. Lucy Banning Ross, sister of the late Rancho Banning,
remained a mystery yesterday, according to relatives.

Announcement of the marriage in Seattle, and the statement that Mrs.
Ota that her new husband "is a Japanese gentleman, a graduate of the Imperial University of Tokyo, and in the United States on a tour of inspection," is declared by relatives of the bride to be their only information on the romance. They assert that Ota is unknown to any members of the family, and that their first inspection of the marriage came in the news dispatches from Seattle.

Neighbors and acquaintances of Mrs. Ota, who live near the 508 South Commonwealth avenue home, believe that they see in the wedding the culmination of a friendship that has been under way for several months.
They called to mind a distinguished-appearing Japanese, who was a frequent visitor at Mrs. Ota's home last summer.

It was learned from acquaintances that the house has been closed and they expressed a belief that Mrs. Ota and her husband and a woman companion, mentioned as Mrs. Clara M.
Bretcher, had driven to Seattle for the ceremony, which was to be a surprise to relatives and friends here.

Mrs. Ota and her husband have declined to aid in solving the apparent mystery of identity. They are spending their honeymoon in Seaside, a Seattle hotel, according to reports. Mrs. Ota admits that she is the former Lucy Banning Ross, and that she is married, but refuses to talk further.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
PASADENA, Jan. 20.—(P.) Edward L. Thorndyke, nationally noted educator and psychologist of Columbia University, left Pasadena today for New York after a Southern California vacation of several weeks.

Dr. Thorndyke came here under strict orders from his physician to refrain from all work, and returns greatly improved in health. Because of his desire to escape attention, his identity was not discovered until the day of his departure.

His enthusiasm for Southern California includes not only the health-giving properties of its climate, but also the cultural activities and achievements of this region. He has found great mental alertness in the Southland, he says, with everyone apparently studying the fine points of his particular subject or work.

Dr. Thorndyke said that prosperity has lifted the colleges of the country with thousands of students, but that at the same time it has afforded the greatest relief to the physics department of the California Institute of Technology.

MEDICAL WORKER BACK FROM CHINA

Chicago Woman Returns
After More Than Three Years' Work in Orient

Returning from three years and a half in Soochow, China, where she virtually introduced the science of X-ray work to that territory, Miss Annyce Hummel of Chicago returned to the United States yesterday aboard
the Lamco liner City of Los Angeles with a record of achievement in medical lines almost unprecedented for American girls.

When the Rockefeller Foundation
established the Soochow Hospital un-

Church, South, a little more than three years ago, Miss Hummel was chosen to go to the Orient and undertake the establishment of a radiology department in the institution.
Europe she has been there ever since,
devoting constant time from the activities of Chinese revolutionaries.

mel has been making a record of

SUN PLAYS PART IN GAS HEARING

Warmth of Recent Winters
Held Rate Factor
General Average Should be Used, City Argues

The high average degree of temperature in Los Angeles during the past five winters and the testimony of Samuel Bloom, assistant Railroad Commission engineer, figured promi-nently in a controversy that marked the resumption of the hearing here yesterday on the Railroad Commission's investigation into the local gas situation.

City Attorney Stephens injected weather reports into the hearing as a vital factor in determining any readjustment of rates which may be made in 1928. He showed that the average temperature for the past five winters was 2.6 deg. higher than for the preceding forty-two years, the five-year mark constituting, he said,
a record for consecutive high temperatures.

RECENT AVERAGE USED
The weather charts became of importance in the hearing when it was disclosed that Mr. Bloom's estimate for the gas consumption for 1928
was based indirectly on the average temperature for the last five years.
In view of the lower average temperature for the preceding forty-two years, Mr. Stephens argued.

Bloom's figures for 1928 are too low and will result in the gas company's receiving a higher rate than it is entitled to. The City Attorney contended that in estimating the temperature for 1928 the average for the last forty-seven years should be used.

Paul Overton, counsel for the Los Angeles Gas Electric Corporation,
considered at the hearing yesterday,
also assailed Mr. Bloom's testimony.
He sought to show that Mr. Bloom's estimate of $58,418,000 as a proper rate basis for the gas company is too low because he omitted the cost of approximately $250,000 increment in witness for the gas cost.

McClary, really man, said the gas company's property is worth $250,000 more than the value allowed by the State engineer.

Mr. Overton's attack on the State Engineer's testimony was directed at the allowance made for replacement of gas mains made necessary
by the strictly natural gas service,
which was inaugurated last February.

ESTIMATE HELD TOO HIGH
If Mr. Bloom made the proper adjustment for rate base, maintenance cost and abnormal losses occasioned
by leakage through the old gas mains,
Mr. Overton sought to show, the State Engineer's estimated rate of returns of 7.95 per cent to the gas company would be too high.

Mr. Stephens attempted to prove that the estimated return for 1928 is too low because Mr. Bloom allowed an excessive amount for replacement of gas mains and other abnormal maintenance costs. He also objected to an arbitrary 20 per cent reduction in the figures covering the use of gas for 1927, which Mr. Bloom used in estimating the probable change of gas in 1928.

The hearing was adjourned until February 2, next, to permit a recross-examination of Mr. Bloom until the testimony of the city of Pasadena will be taken, and the city of Pasadena will favor Los Angeles over other communities.

TOURIST PARTY FROM EAST DUE HERE TODAY

A personally conducted party of fifty prominent tourists from the East, who have been over the Indian Delmont in New Mexico, visited the Grand Canyon and other points of interest, including Stovepipe, for a geles direct from the Santa Fe.

The party, known as one of the San Diego will proceed to Yosemite thence to San Francisco and

U.S.C. Students Reach $150,000 Building Quota

University of Southern California students have raised $150,000 toward the library building fund in a four-day campaign which terminated yesterday. Officers in sight will bring the amount to more than the $150,000 set as the students' share in the proposed $750,000 building. Paul H.
Quist, student chairman, said last night.

President R. E. von KleinSmid expressed himself as more than pleased by the student loyalty and enthusiasm. He said the library building is virtually assured for the near future because of the success of the student campaign. Alumni are pledged to raise the additional amount required.

INFORMAL WEDLOCK DECLIED CLERK ADMITS

Late Ideas Shock Hymeneal Veteran Saddler Gives Police Cues to Three Accomplices

Confessing that he and three "other men" whom he had met in a pool hall had planned and executed the $75,000 pay-roll robbery of the Bureau of Power and Light, Saddler, 36, last, Fern Sadler, 29, years of age, former clerk in the bureau, 1 a s t night broke his defiant and nicknamed "brat" of
robbery, and started police on an intense hunt for the accomplices.

Names of the three accomplices
are not known to Sadler, he told
police, although he furnished descriptions and nicknames of them. A total of $12,000 has been recovered by police to date, which represents the recovery of the portion of Sadler's confession of the robbery, and is being held
by police for suspicion of robbery and receiving stolen property. He has a steadfastly maintained his innocence,
but admitted that his younger brother,
Fern, had "loaned me $3600."

RELATIVES RELEASED
Earlier in the evening, Mrs. Cona
Sadler, 62; her older son, Ber-
nadin P. Sadler, 41, and Mrs. Catherine E. Weik, 19, an acquaintance
of the youngest brother, were released by Detective Captains Slaten
and Cahill when they convinced the
police of their innocence.

Detresses had been watching the activities of Fern Sadler since the robbery of the Bureau of Power and Light, it was disclosed last night. A day before the robbery Sadler went
on a vacation for a week.

At 2 a. m. nothing directly had confessed to the robbery, the bandits
purchased three automobiles with cash lately had aroused suspicion. He is said to have made deposits totaling $3700 in local banks recently.

WILL ASK COURT MERCY
Attorney S. S. Hahn, who has been retained by Sadler, stated he will have his client enter a plea of guilty
to robbery and throw himself on the mercy of the court.

The robbery of the Power Bureau
occurred about 8 o'clock in the evening of September 28, last, after kidnaping of the bandits. The bandits
quietly entered the office and gagged
and bound the three cashiers. Putting on green gloves, the bandits
collected about their work of gathering
up all of the cash in the place and
walked out the door before they were discovered.

THE COMPANIONATE marriage is a weird plan and can only result in a barrenness condition and horrible confusion in the matter of tracing family trees and lines of decent.

So says Lady Sholto Douglas, who arrived at the Ambassador Hotel, Pasadena, from London, via New York. Lady Douglas, by the way, can be safely termed a person who knows what she speaks, for she has been divorced
three times and now is in the process of divorcing her fourth husband,
Count B. de Savoy of France.

Lady Douglas states that she is considering going to motion picture land and may depend in great part upon the opportunities offered by the motion-picture industry for a petti-
sh-haired, titled lady who wears a
No. 1 shoe.

She was born in Holland, but is now British and London is her home.
Her first husband was a commoner, Capt. Henry Bernard of the British army. Following their divorce she married Lord Douglas Sholto. Her third spouse was Prince Burghesdon, a Turkish nobleman. This ended in an annulment. The present object of divorce proceedings is Count de Savoy, whose title she forfeits by her legal action. She retains her title as Lady Douglas, however, under British law, despite the fact that a divorce and another marriage has been taken since her union with Lord Sholto.

Her stay in Los Angeles is indefinite and may depend in great part
upon the opportunities offered by the
motion-picture industry for a petti-
sh-haired, titled lady who wears a
No. 1 shoe.

defiant and nicknamed "brat" of
robbery, and started police on an intense hunt for the accomplices.

Names of the three accomplices
are not known to Sadler, he told
police, although he furnished descriptions and nicknames of them. A total of $12,000 has been recovered by
police to date, which represents the
recovery of the portion of Sadler's confession of the robbery, and is being held
by police for suspicion of robbery and receiving stolen property. He has a
steadfastly maintained his innocence,
but admitted that his younger brother,
Fern, had "loaned me $3600."

RELATIVES RELEASED
Earlier in the evening, Mrs. Cona
Sadler, 62; her older son, Ber-
nadin P. Sadler, 41, and Mrs. Catherine E. Weik, 19, an acquaintance
of the youngest brother, were re-
leased by Detective Captains Slaten
and Cahill when they convinced the
police of their innocence.

Detresses had been watching the
activities of Fern Sadler since the
robbery of the Bureau of Power and Light, it was disclosed last night. A
day before the robbery Sadler went
on a vacation for a week.

At 2 a. m. nothing directly had confessed to the robbery, the bandits
purchased three automobiles with
cash lately had aroused suspicion. He
$3700 in local banks recently.

WILL ASK COURT MERCY
Attorney S. S. Hahn, who has been retained by Sadler, stated he will
have his client enter a plea of guilty
to robbery and throw himself on the
mercy of the court.

The robbery of the Power Bureau
occurred about 8 o'clock in the
evening of September 28, last, after
kidnaping of the bandits. The bandits
quietly entered the office and gagged
and bound the three cashiers. Putting on green gloves, the bandits
collected about their work of gathering
up all of the cash in the place and
walked out the door before they were
discovered.

CONGRESS AND THE TARIFF

The Republican majority in the House of Representatives appears to have put an effective veto upon the plan originating in the Senate for a downward revision of the tariff by the Congress.

All fiscal legislation and tariff schedules come under this classification—most originate in the House. Why the Senate considered it necessary to move in the tariff matter is not quite clear; especially as such a move could have but one outcome—the Republicans voting for a protective tariff and the Democrats for free trade with a thin coat of protective whitewash.

From the Democratic standpoint and as the usual campaign-year gesture the effort is understandable enough. It is not surprising that Senator Robinson, Democratic leader in the Senate, should declare that "there is no such thing as prosperity." If there were a betterer in progress and prosperity, it would not be a member of the Democratic party. Naturally, there can be no prosperity for him while so many Democrats are out of office.

That the Democrats should have voted on bloc for a downward revision of the tariff is thoroughly consistent; for the Democrats voted against most of the existing rates when they were established; but it smacks more of pique than of conviction to lead twelve Republicans from the Middle West voting for a resolution calling "excessive" some of the schedules they themselves voted to establish. Such things happen, however, in the preliminary skirmishes of a campaign year; and it is generally termed maneuvering for position.

Most of the Republicans voting for the resolution were supporters of the McNary-Hangen bill and the observers on the side lines in Washington report that this resolution is a demonstration intended to force the Republican majority to support another farm relief bill along McNary-Hangen lines.

The whole scheme is far-fetched and fallacious in its fundamental premise. Americans are producing more and selling more per unit of population than any other people in the world. Wages are higher and there is less unemployment than in any other populous country. Americans are better paid, better fed, better housed, than the workmen of any of our rivals for world trade and industry. Their children are better educated, and the standard of living is higher. If this is not prosperity, then all the accepted definitions for this word are wrong.

The tariff alone may not be responsible for this condition; but it is surely one of the great contributing causes. Take the protective tariff for our citrus fruits and our citrus industry would collapse, as it has done in the past under free trade administrations. That schedule is just high enough at the present time to cover the difference between the European and the tropical sections of this country and the Mediterranean countries. This is equalization; but it is not excessive.

The Senators of the Middle West who voted for the tariff reduction resolution attempted to aim it at industry, but not at agriculture. They want a protective tariff for what they consider have to sell, and free trade for what they have to buy. Such a policy has but to be stated to be condemned. The American standard of living in industry about doubles the amount of agricultural products consumed. Free trade would inevitably force upon our industrial centers the European standard of living. Would American agriculture profit by cutting the consumption of agricultural products in the cities in half?

Tariff schedules are and should be, elastic. The President, acting on the recommendation of the Tariff Commission, is empowered to reduce as much as one-fourth any tariff schedule that is found on investigation to be excessive. He is likewise empowered to make a similar increase in any schedule, if the condition of trade necessitates it.

From this distance it appears that political considerations, not economic conditions, were responsible for Senatorial meddling in legislation which does not originate in the Senate.

LIGHT OF CHINESE

Shantung, one of China's most populous provinces, reports grave famine conditions. About 4,000,000 people are said to be at the end of their food resources. From some towns where the last vestiges of nourishment have been consumed all the people are migrating to nearby districts to live upon such charity as may be available. This cuts down the food supply of those places, in none of which is there anything like abundance, and spreads the ill of malnutrition and other diseases.

In former times of famine in China it has been found fairly easy to ship in supplies of food to tide over the period of poor crops, but now it is rather difficult, owing to the fact that wagon roads as well as railroads are in a bad state, owing to floods and warships. However, this is not the reason why they are now withheld. Formerly the missionaries used to plead for money from America and Europe, and this was sent in large amounts that were expended for food in the more richly provided districts of China and the supplies were quickly forwarded to relieve the destitute.

Little money is asked or sent for such relief today, as it would almost surely fall into the hands of the militarists, who can use it in their hard-boiled philosophy of starving millions more nothing if only they can swell their own coffers. Such craven callousness is not understood by the Occidental mind, but China has become used to daily expressions of it, and can only bow its head in meek submission. Stricken Shantung, ruled by brigand militarists of the blackest type, seems to be helpless. It presents a most pitiful picture of how militarism runs riot in the hands of people in violation by standing between them and all sources from which relief might come if not prevented by the obstacles so selfishly interposed.

THE BIG SHOW

The official machinery is now in motion for Chicago's second world's fair. This will be pulled off in 1933 as an observance of the city's centennial and will be just forty years later than the famous Columbian exposition which drew the world to Chicago. It is promised that by 1933 the big men will have killed one another off and the big city will be safe for the world. There will be a glorified fair front in the bulk of the show will be on man-made islands opposite the city's bosom. The eye-balls of the universe should pop with joy when the curtains are drawn for the big show.

THE MOTOR ERA

From a single California automobile thirty years ago to 3,000,000 cars today is quite a jump. California entered what may be termed the motor era with greater enthusiasm than any other State in the Union. New York has more machines, but it is the only State that has, and New York has more than twice the population of California, which has a far higher number per capita.

Based on recent registrations, the number of motor vehicles in the State is now nearly 25,000,000. The gain in registrations up to the first of this year was unprecedented, the total exceeding the number registered a year ago by 1,955,000. The official gain in cars is computed to be about 2,000,000. California was one of four States that increased their registration by more than 100,000 while Arkansas and Florida showed losses. Florida had 7515 fewer cars at the beginning of 1933 than on January 1, 1932.

What do those wise men who five years ago said that this country had more cars than the automobile, saturation point think of the figures representing the increase of the number of cars in this country by 2,000,000 in a single year? And what do they think of the possibility of their being twice that increase this year, now that the war of the manufacturers may be said to have started and prices are being cut right and left?

It is fairly easy to make estimates of what the population will be in 1930, but when it comes to automobiles prophets and statisticians are staggered.

FROM THE SOLE UP

The head of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra says that modern music is not for the head, nor for the heart. It is only for the feet. What of it? Isn't that harmony for the sole?

LEE SIDE O' LA

by Lee Shippey

CALIFORNIA'S law requiring that notice of intention to marry be filed three full days before the license is issued has been in effect since July 29, and a good many inaccurate things have been said of it. It has neither given the little blind god a black eye, as has been stated, nor is it an end to elopements, as was claimed.

Marriage licenses have been issued at an average of more than sixty a day, according to Miss Rosemond Rice, chief marriage licenses clerk.

And the elopers simply go to Tia Juana.

There's a lot of human interest around the marriage license bureau. In nine cases out of ten, Miss Rice says, it is the woman, not the man, who reaches for the application blank, and in most cases it is the woman who calls for the license after the three-day period has elapsed.

Practical Agreements

Frequently couples applying for licenses wish to draw up prenuptial agreements. This is especially true of foreign couples, but some American couples might profit by following their example. If a man has one night out a week guaranteed by a prenuptial agreement he can get it without argument, tears or a charge that he is no longer loves. And every woman can think of a few things she would like to be guaranteed by a sort of constitution. Anyway, it would be better having one-half of the pair try to establish himself or herself as supreme court, with no constitution to go by.

Father, Calling Hickman "Dangerous Beast," Visits Killer of Girl in

PUNISHMENT OF BOY DEMANDED

Parent Thinks Former Wife Has Mental Taint

Slayer Suffers Reaction from Spinal Fluid Tests

Defense Chief Expected Back from East Today

William Thomas Hickman, the father, met his son, the child kidnaper and killer, yesterday at the County Jail.

The meeting was cordial and took place in Hickman's cell. The slayer was confined to his bunk with a severe headache, and the father was escorted to the cell by Jailers Dewar and Engel.

"Hello, Dad," Hickman said in his greeting. "Hello, boy," replied the father, as the steel-barred door swung open. A handshake, and the two Hickmans talked. The father, who had been in the cell for several days, was looking at his son with a mixture of pity and anger.

"Edward greeted me very nice. I didn't know whether he wanted to see me or not, but I know now that he did. I will visit him daily until the end of the hearing, and expect to be present at his trial when his mother makes her first call. Edward showed little emotion," Hickman senior stated.

Hickman senior then announced the meeting at an end. The father declined to discuss his conversation with the slayer, but indicated that he was concerned only his trip from El Paso, and the expected arrival today of Mrs. E. Hickman, his divorced wife and mother of the slayer.

"Edward greeted me very nice. I didn't know whether he wanted to see me or not, but I know now that he did. I will visit him daily until the end of the hearing, and expect to be present at his trial when his mother makes her first call. Edward showed little emotion," Hickman senior stated.

The senior Hickman arrived this morning in response, he stated, to a telegram from Edward, which said: "I do not know what part I will take in the hearing. I have not seen Edward since October, 1929. I am here to be of any assistance possible to my son. If placed on the witness stand, I will testify that Edward is suffering from hereditary insanity," the father said.

Wishes Justice
"I will tell the history of the family, if that is deemed best, and I feel positive that will show the truth of the matter. I am not here to obstruct justice. I want my son punished for this terrible deed. I know that he is guilty of the most cruel crime that I have ever known," Hickman asserted with Attorney Cantillon.

Hickman said that he is a stationery engineer in El Paso and that he had said, shortly after his son was named kidnaper and confessed, that he would like to tear him from limb. In explaining his change of mind the senior Hickman now says that he had time for thought, and that the killer is his son.

CALLS ON BEAST
"I do not think Edward should ever be permitted to walk the streets. He is a dangerous beast, and if I find him directly related to his mental condition, then I would expect him to pay the supreme penalty. There is no place in this country for such a beast as he has proven to be, except solitary confinement, if insane. If he is sane, then the gallows," the father continued.

Hickman, the father, suffered a reaction yesterday from the drawing of fluid from his spine, and while his condition was at no time considered serious by all attending, he has not declined to see his father.

Dr. Pettie, defense physician, who conducted the test of spinal fluid, announced to Dr. Blank, jail physician, that the test proved negative, and that there are no signs of insanity. Dist. Atty. Keyes said that Attorney Cantillon agreed that there will be no more tests that would tend to disturb the health of the prisoner.

NO DELAY EXPECTED
Attorney Walsh will arrive today and will be accompanied by three defense witnesses, according to information wired Attorney Cantillon, Walsh also is bringing defense witnesses from two witnesses in three states, where he searched for testimony to show Hickman insane. The senior Hickman, the father, suffered a reaction yesterday from the drawing of fluid from his spine, and while his condition was at no time considered serious by all attending, he has not declined to see his father.

YOUNG WOMEN AID IN ARRESTS

Shoplifting Charges Aimed at Six Persons

Theft of $100,000 Goods Laid to Suspects

Feminine Detectives Get Thrill in Seizure

Two young women who look as if they might have been graduated from a finishing school only the other day were the heroines yesterday in the arrest of five men and a woman, said by police and by the public women themselves to be members of a shoplifting ring that has rifled Los Angeles department stores of more than $100,000 in merchandise.

Meanwhile, Capt. Williams and his bunks squad managed to recover $100,000 worth of the arrested $100,000 and the girls, it is believed, were in the point of recovering the rest of the cache.

"I just took a walk on pickpockets," said Miss Marie Boston, 25 years of age, a detective for Walker Department Store, one of the young women heroines.

THEY LOVE THRILLS
"Shoplifting, plain and simple, are my strong point," said Miss Edna Foster, a former student of the May Company, the other young woman heroine, who originally was responsible for the arrest of the five men and a woman, asserted members of one organized shoplifting gang.

Both young women went into the detective business because they "love thrills."

Not long ago Miss Foster pursued a shoplifter from the May Company store into Broadway where she stopped him by a flying tackle and after a spectacular struggle, as she said yesterday, to "put the brakes on him."

"Oh, there are lots of ways of stopping a shoplifter, once you have spotted him," said Miss Boston, who was charged with shoplifting, who later, according to police, was the instigator in the raid on the store.

Whispering Ears
"If he starts to run, you can hang on and run with him and, you see, he can't get away. But usually, you know, and this is funny, the girls are joking and say: 'Come on, kid, or something like that. And then they start to run and he realizes that you've got the goods on him.'"

Not long ago the young women arrested a man and woman who were charged with shoplifting. The man, who was charged with shoplifting, was charged with shoplifting. The woman, who was charged with shoplifting, was charged with shoplifting.

LOCAL HEADQUARTERS
It is understood that government investigators have learned that a local headquarters for the shoplifting ring has been located in a downtown Los Angeles office building, where it is said, orders for hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of goods have been placed.

It is considered likely by police officers of the situation that the shoplifting ring is a well-organized and efficient one, and that it is likely to place what evidence they may have against the prohibition men before the Federal grand jury at the same time that indictments are sought against the run runners.

DEALERS IN FRUIT WILL MEET HERE
John P. Goodrich, scenario writer at the Paramount Studio, is secretary of the Fruit Dealers Association. He is expected to arrive in Los Angeles today for a four-day session with the Fruit Dealers Association.

Jobbers' Association Will Convene on 31st. Inst. for Trade Discussion
Mass production and distribution, public interest in fruit consumption and problems of the retail merchant will be among the subjects discussed at a four-day session with the Fruit Dealers Association.

SISTERS AID "BABY STARS"
Thirteen young screen actresses are more than ever convinced that they are present-day Cinderellas. Just a few days ago the Wampas waved their magic wand over them and they were transformed into the thirteen baby stars of 1934. And now along come the Big Sisters of the Wampas and present each actress with an individual godmother.

Godmother Provided for Each of Thirteen Girls Chosen by Wampas for 1928
The Big Sisters of the Wampas are the thirteenth annual meeting and reception at the Mothers' Educational Center at 3101 South Figueroa street, the 25th anniversary of the Wampas. The hours named are from 2:30 to 5 p.m. The Mothers' Educational Center recently moved into the large house at this address, and the meeting is a celebration of the progress of the work and the completion of the headquarters.

LIST OF CHOICES
Colleen Moore chose as her special charge Molly O'Day. Both are affiliated with First National. Clara Bow will sponsor Ruth Taylor, her fellow-worker at Paramount. Joan Crawford already has professed her services to Owen Lee at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Colleen Del Rio, formerly of Mexico City, will extend her aid to fellow-countrywoman, Lupe Velez, who was chosen from the same studio as her protégé, thus giving the younger player the advantage of an ever-present adviser.

Madeline Hurlock, member of Mack Bennett's organization, has chosen Sally Eilers as her protégé.

RAILWAY'S NEW FUNCTION TOLD

Union Pacific Official Here Talks of Uses

Duty to Community Becomes Paramount Issue

California Profits by Lines' Advertising in East

"A railway company is more than a seller of transportation," said F. W. Robinson, Omaha, vice-president of the Union Pacific System, in charge of the California division, who arrived in Los Angeles yesterday.

The Union Pacific System is a vital part of the community in its territory. It has been an important factor in the growth and development of the West in recent years and in the territory of the Pacific coast.

GOOD CUSTOMER
The Los Angeles and Salt Lake unit of the road, Robinson said, "buys $5,000,000 worth of materials and supplies annually, practically all of which, except for steel and a few minor commodities, are produced in this territory. It affords an opportunity to the public by bringing the public into the public treasury large sums in taxes. In fact, the unit alone was $1,500,000."

"Co-operative helplessness is part of the Union Pacific System's efforts and manifested by its activities in bringing about the best of the best of crops; by individual work in helping farmers and farm organizations to meet their needs; by playing experts of recognized ability to help solve agricultural difficulties, and by the use of the system's own funds in promoting the location of industries in Los Angeles."

RAILWAY RESPONSIBILITIES
"Agriculture will continue, as heretofore, to be the leading basic industry of this country and agriculture now and always must have adequate transportation available. The railroad assists in colonizing the lands and find and develop markets for the products. It recognizes its own interest in transporting these products to market and likewise its responsibility to the public by bringing the public into the public treasury large sums in taxes. In fact, the unit alone was $1,500,000."
